

Crystal Hope Reed, Pet Psychic (aka Animal Communicator)

BIO:

Crystal Hope Reed has been a practicing pet psychic since the late 1990s. She stumbled into the training on a whim and with a fair amount of skepticism about her own potential, but she soon realized that she indeed did have the ability to talk to animals.

For the first few years she used her skills on her own pets and to help friends and family, but in 2003, in response to an acquaintance asking that perennial question, “What would you do if you knew you couldn’t fail?” she started a series of advanced training classes and decided to own her identity as a pet psychic.

These days Crystal works mainly through photographs because telepathic communication is a non-local phenomenon. She has helped people all over the United States with pet issues like unwanted behaviors, medical challenges, and introducing new family members, and she can even connect with animals who have passed on.

Her goal is to help as many animals as possible, both on an individual basis and by changing the way people think about and relate to them.

COMMON QUESTIONS:

I will gladly talk about any aspect of animal communication or the psychic/paranormal realm, but here are some questions I’m commonly asked by interviewers:

1. When/how did you first learn how to communicate with animals?
2. How does animal communication (or any kind of telepathy) work?
3. How did you deal with having to change your paradigm/world view once you realized this was a real thing?
4. What do your friends and family think?
5. How do you deal with skeptics?
6. What are the benefits and drawbacks of being a pet psychic?
7. What is your process? Do you have rituals or tools that you use?
8. Do different animals communicate differently?
9. What are the funniest/scariest/most outrageous/most memorable/etc. cases you’ve worked on?
10. Have you developed any other psychic abilities? What other areas of the paranormal are you interested in or involved in?
11. How can people get started with animal communication themselves?
